Deadline: February 15, 2018 is the deadline for priority consideration for fellowship/assistantship support. Applications are accepted after this date, but fellowships and/or assistantships may have already been awarded.

1) Go to: http://admissions.ufl.edu/apply/graduate/graduateapp to begin the application process. If interested, please check the boxes for assistantship/fellowship support.

2) Take required tests and submit scores as indicated (GRE; TOEFL for non-native English speakers).

3) Contact 3 people (former professors/supervisors etc.) to write letters of recommendation in support of your application. Provide them with links from the application that will allow them to upload their letter directly to UF.

4) Submit transcripts as indicated.

5) Write a personal statement that describes your preparation for our program, that outlines your goals for your program of study (potential areas of coursework/research, etc.), and that indicates the relationship between our program and your future goals.

6) Submit a writing sample in French (usually a paper from a college-level course) to the graduate coordinator: Dr. Gayle Zachmann (zachmann@ufl.edu)

7) Check your application status online to see if it is complete.

8) Await an email from Dr. Zachmann in late February or early March to arrange a phone or skype interview.
