

COURSE OBJECTIVES

CHI 1131 is the sequel to CHI 1130 and is designed for students studying modern Chinese (Mandarin) as a second or “acquired” language. Students will build up their vocabulary and become familiar with basic sentence structures. In addition, students will develop their skills in listening, speaking, reading, and writing the language. Students are expected to carry out real life communication at an elementary level upon completion of this course. Culture embedded in the language will also be introduced. To be more specific, students will attain approximately the Novice-High level on the ACTFL/ETS proficiency scale after completing this course:

Listening: Able to understand short, learned utterances and some sentence-length utterances, particularly where context strongly supports understanding and speech is clearly audible. May require repetition, rephrasing and/or a slowed rate of speech for comprehension.

Speaking: Able to satisfy partially the requirements of basic communicative exchanges by relying heavily on learned utterances but occasionally expanding these through simple recombination of their elements. Can ask questions or make statements involving learned material.

Reading: Where vocabulary has been learned, can read for instructional and directional purposes standardized messages, phrases or expressions, such as some items on menu, schedules, timetables, maps, and signs.

Writing: Able to write simple fixed expressions and limited memorized material and some recombinations thereof. Can supply information on simple forms and documents.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

1. Prerequisite

Completed CHI 1130 with a grade of C and above, or S, or equivalent by placement test.

2. Attendance

Since this is an intensive course and language learning is a cumulative process, it is essential for students to come to class and practice Chinese every day. Students are allowed to have four unexcused absences. Each additional unexcused absence after the 4th will result in 1% deduction from the final score. You may be excused from the class only if you provide official documentation, such as a note from the doctor, accident report, proof for school activities etc. All other absences will not be excused unless receiving special permission from your instructor.

Please be punctual. If you are late to class, you will not be given extra time to complete the exams and quizzes. If you are more than 5 minutes late three times without your instructor's consent, they will be counted as one absence. If you are more than 30 minutes late, it will be considered as one absence. If you leave 10 minutes prior to the end of the class without your instructor's permission, it is counted as one absence as well.

If you are late or miss class for any reason, it is your responsibility to contact your instructor or ask your classmates to find out what you have missed and what you need to do.

Religious holidays

Upon prior notification of your instructors, students shall be excused from class to observe a religious holy day of their faith. Students shall be permitted to make up the material or activities covered in their absence and shall not be penalized. Please refer to attendance policies at: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>

3. Participation

Students will be evaluated by their performance in class daily. Students are expected to preview lessons, and prepare for classroom activities. Since this is a five-credit course, students are expected to study for 1-2 hours every day. Texting, surfing the internet, sleeping, talking or doing homework during the class is considered as being disengaged from class activities. Any absence will be considered as no participation on the day of absence. Grading criteria for class participation will be on a 10 point scale. No daily participation grades will be given if students conduct any irrelevant activities in class.

Important Classroom Etiquette:

During class please do not talk, sleep, eat or chew gum and also turn off all electronic devices- Cell phones, computers, tablets, I-pods, etc. During the exam cell phones must be put away. Students will be asked to leave if he/she does not observe the above classroom etiquette.

4. Homework

All homework assignments are due at the beginning of class on the due date. If homework is turned in at the end of class, it will be checked but not graded. No homework will be accepted after the due dates. Any missing homework assignments will be graded as 0. Any duplicated homework will also receive a 0. All homework must be stapled by a stapler (no folding corners or paper clips). If not stapled, 20% of homework grade will be deducted. In case you must miss class on the day that an assignment is due, turn it in ahead of time.

Character homework can be downloaded and printed at Canvas/files/character homework. Character practice and workbook exercise takes 10% and 90% of the Homework grade respectively.

5. Quizzes & Tests

There are two vocabulary quizzes for each lesson. Students need to memorize the pinyin, Chinese character and English definition for each new word from the lesson.

A written test is given every two lessons. Students will be tested on listening, grammar, reading and writing for the written test.

Two mini orals, one speaking test will be given throughout the semester. Instructions for mini orals will be given beforehand. Students sometimes need to work in pairs or groups. A Speaking test is given half-way through the semester. Two students will sign up for a 5 minute interview with the course instructor. Most questions are given ahead of time so that students can prepare for.

The end-of-semester final skit is the final speaking product of the semester. Students will work in groups and perform a skit in class. Instructions will be given two weeks prior to the performance.

The final test is cumulative in nature, but will focus on lessons 15-16 and will be given during the last two days of class.

6. Canvas E-Learning

Canvas E-learning is an online Course Management System (CMS) to support study in and outside of class. Students are required to check the Canvas E-learning CMS for the course schedule, class and homework assignments.

7. Makeup Policy

A. Make-up tests, quizzes, homework, and oral presentations (individual and group) are only given strictly to those with valid proof of illness, emergency and approved school activities. Official proof must be provided for the exact absent day. Pre-arranged make-ups are only for official activities, not for personal activities, and must be approved by the instructor.

B. In addition to an official document, the instructor must be contacted by email before the class time and a make-up section must be scheduled within three class days after the student's return to class. It is important not to miss the group presentations as other members in the group can be affected. See Attendance.

There will be no make-ups for any homework, quiz, test, or oral presentation if both requirements are not fulfilled.

8. Academic Honesty

Cheating will not be tolerated. Any students found in violation of the student honor code will be reported to university officials. Please refer to the University of Florida Student Honor Code.

9 Chinese Speaking Policy in Class

You are required to speak only Chinese in class. You will be taught how to ask permission to speak English, if it becomes absolutely necessary.
