CHI 3403 -- CHINESE CALLIGRAPHY

Class Number: 11536, section: 1F65, University of Florida, Spring 2019
Days, Times, and Room: Tuesday, period 10 and Thursday, periods 10-11 at Pugh Hall 120
Instructor: Ruth Sheng (Email, rsheng@ufl.edu; Phone, 352-273-2955 or 392-2422)
Office and Hours: 310 Pugh Hall; Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday 2:00-4:00

COURSE OBJECTIVES
Being one of the most revered arts in China, calligraphy (the art of writing -- 書法 shufa) has been an essential part of Chinese culture. This course is designed to introduce the importance of calligraphy in its development intergrated with Chinese art, history and culture, with emphasis on incorporating calligraphy into the more comprehensive objective of achieving cultural proficiency. Consequently this class provides students the opportunity not only to learn how to appreciate and to write Chinese calligraphy, but also to understand how the calligraphy intertwining with various aspects of culture element in China and its influence to many neighboring countries.

COURSE DESCRIPTION
In addition to the various scripts of calligraphy, students are introduced to many related subjects: the origin and evolution of Chinese writing system, the historical development and aesthetic principles of Chinese calligraphy, inscriptions on the prominent steles/epitaphic stones, writings on scrolls and/or album leaves by major artists, as well as the close relationships with painting and poetry. Persistent hands-on practice is required of all students: there are in-class practice and weekly take-home assignments. Students receive the individual instructions in the classroom as well as in the instructor’s office on the regular basis (be aware the sign-up sheet for the weekly visit)

READING
Chinese Calligraphy: an introduction of its aesthetic and technique by Chiang Yee (Cambridge: Harvard University Press, 1973), though an earlier publication, but covers essential and brief information on the aesthetic principles and technical information of Chinese calligraphy.
Chinese Calligraphy compiled by Ouyang Zhongshi and Wen Fong (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 2008) offers the more details on the evolution of various scripts and historical development of calligraphic styles.
Most of the designated weekly reading requirements are selected from the above two resources. In addition, a comprehensive list of bibliography is provided at the end of the syllabus. Items included on the list can be found in the Fine Arts Library and some are held as the reserve books. Frequent use of these books, which contain numerous fine reproductions of calligraphy, is highly encouraged. An extra important reading list mostly in articles can be found in “e-Learning” under this course.

COURSE FORMAT
This course combines lectures with visual materials, discussions of reading and/or visual evidence, as well as hands-on practice with brush and ink. The lectures are usually given during the meetings on Tuesday, while the hands-on practice and the observation of instructor’s demonstration either in the classroom or from the taped videos are taken place mostly on Thursday. Students should be aware that the most of the learning from this class due to the nature of this course can only be acquired in the classroom; therefore, to attend all class meetings is essential and strongly advised.
REQUIREMENTS AND GRADING

Class attendance and participation (20%) - Perfect attendance will be rewarded with a bonus point, while the non-excused absence and tardiness adversely affects your grade (one point deduction for each unexcused absence & half point for the tardiness). 10 non-excused absences results in a failing grade. Absences are permitted for medical reasons, school related activities, and the matters of emergency. Previewing and reviewing the readings will enhance your participation in the class. Good attitude and enthusiasm on hands-on practice is also counted for participation.

Take home calligraphy assignments (20%) - Be responsible for completing the assigned weekly homework practice, and turn in on time in order to receive proper credit. The assignment of weekly homework/practice will be instructed in the classroom and also posted on the UF e-Learning system.

Term paper assignment (10%) - Choose one article or a chapter from reading assignments to write a review/critique paper. The structure of the paper should begin with a gist of chosen reading piece as the introduction, proceed with comments and responses, critiques and questions as the main body, sum up with a conclusion, and at the end list a brief bibliography for the related readings. The purpose of this assignment is to urge students to read critically and diligently as soon as the class begins. Although the due date is March 12, students are encouraged to turn it in as early as possible (awarded with bonus point). Only three pages is required, and it should be done with normal margin, 1.5/double spacing. Turn in a hard copy and an online file via email attachment.

Quizzes (10%) - Expect many quizzes throughout the semester, and no make-up allowed.

Exam (25%) - One exam is given in the format of multiple choices, script and image identifications/comparisons, and essay. Make-up exam allows only with medical documentation.

Class presentation (10%) - Prepare and perform a 15 minutes class presentation on one’s own choice of topic, in the categories such as “Where to Locate Asian Calligraphy,” “My Favorite Calligrapher,” “Calligraphy and Painting,” etc, and preferably to be conducted as a group presentation (2-3 students). The format is open choice. To discuss the potential topic with instructor is required.

Final piece (5%) - Towards the end of semester, students need to submit at least one piece of presentable work of calligraphy for the class exhibition held on April 23 (the last day of class).

Each student will receive the best grade one deserves:

Grading scale - Grades are tabulated on a 100-point scale and a letter grade is assigned as follows:

- A = 93 & above, A- = 90-92, B+ = 87-89, B = 83-86, B- = 80-82, C+ = 77-79,
- C = 73-76, C- = 70-72, D+ = 67-69, D = 63-66, D- = 60-62, E = 59 & below

https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/grades.aspx

OTHER IMPORTANT INFORMATION

The needed writing tools can be purchased via Amazon. Students will receive the guideline of what to order during the 1st week meeting; the actual hands-on practice will not occur until the 3rd week.

The changes in class scheduling or special announcement will be posted via email or in e-Learning.

Disability accommodations can be requested by registering with the Dean of Students Office for proper documentation, inquiring see web link https://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/.

Academic honesty, and student conduct related to the honor code will be strictly enforced. Be aware that plagiarism will result in a failing grade, see https://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/.

Online course evaluation is conducted at https://evaluations.ufl.edu. Students are encouraged to participate in order to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course.

PASS/FAIL is allowed in this class; however, completion of all requirements in order to pass is still needed.
TENTATIVE SCHEDULE

Week 1
Reading: Ouyang Zhongshi and Wen Fong, Chinese Calligraphy, p. 1-31, 415-37
Billeter, J. F., "Learning the Craft" in The Chinese Art of Writing, p. 109-34

Jan. 8/T Organizational introduction with the discussion of course syllabus and requirements
Jan. 10/R Highlights of the historical development and aesthetic principles of Chinese calligraphy in general

Week 2
Reading: Chiang Yee, Chinese Calligraphy, p. 133-44
Billeter, J. F., "Maneuvering the Brush" in The Chinese Art of Writing, p. 45-84

Jan. 15/T Four essential tools on writing Chinese calligraphy (Wenfang sibao 文房四寶)
Jan. 17/R Correct gesture of holding brush, writing with brush, along with the proper way of rendering the ink; calligraphy demonstration by instructor

Week 3
Reading: Chiang, Yee, Chinese Calligraphy, p. 41-67
Ouyang, Zhongshi and Wen Fong, Chinese Calligraphy, p. 34-36, 56-60, 67-131

Jan. 22/T Early writing and scripts: oracle bone inscription (jiaguwen 甲骨文), bronze inscriptions (jinwen 金文 - also known as the greater or large seal script, dazhuan 大篆), lesser/small seal script (xiaozhuan 小篆), and clerical/official script (lishu 隸書)

Jan. 24/R The small seal script: basics on writing technique and practice

Week 4
Reading: Chiang, Yee, Chinese Calligraphy, p. 18-35, 145-65
Ouyang, Zhongshi and Wen Fong, Chinese Calligraphy, p. 47-55

Jan. 29/T Conceptual principles on the formation of Chinese characters with the introduction of the first Chinese dictionary, Shuowen Jiezi 說文解字

Jan. 31/R "Eight strokes of character yong 永" (yongzi bafa 永字八法): basics of the standard script; celebrating Chinese New Year (Lunar New Year falls on Feb. 5th)

Week 5
Reading: Chiang, Yee, Chinese Calligraphy, p. 67-105
Ouyang, Zhongshi and Wen Fong, Chinese Calligraphy, p. 133-239 (browsing)

Feb. 5/T Development of various scripts: standard/regular script (kaishu 楷書), running script (xingshu 行書), and cursive/grass script (caoshu 草書); leading masters from the Six Dynasties to early Tang (Wang Xizhi 王羲之 (303-361), and his followers

Feb. 7/R High Tang masters: the stylistic comparison of standard script masters, Yan Zhenqing 顏真卿 and Liu Gongquan 柳公權, and cursive script masters, Zhang Xu 張旭 and Huaisu 懷素; practicing standard script
Week 6
Reading: Ouyang, Zhongshi and Wen Fong, Chinese Calligraphy, p. 241-69
Xu, J., “Opposite Paths to Originality: Huang T'ing-chien 黄庭堅 and Mi Fu 米芾” in The Embodied Image ed. by Robert Harris and Wen Fong, p. 260-79

Feb. 12/T  Leading masters of the Song 宋 dynasty.
Feb. 14/R  Continuing the practice on the standard script; exploring the running and cursive; introducing the model books in various scripts

Week 7
Reading: Ouyang, Zhongshi and Wen Fong, Chinese Calligraphy, p. 284-377 (browsing)

Feb. 19/T  Masters of the Yuan 元, Ming 明, and Qing 清 dynasties
Feb. 21/R  Refining the techniques on the standard script; getting more familiar with the model books in various scripts

Week 8
Reading: Erickson, B., The Art of Xu Bing, words without meaning, meaning without words, p. 33-70
Barrass, G. S., The Art of Calligraphy in Modern China, p. 11-58
Ouyang, Zhongshi and Wen Fong, Chinese Calligraphy, p. 378-413
Chiang, Yee, Chinese Calligraphy, p. 166-88

Feb. 26/T  Modern and avant-garde movement in China; introducing contemporary calligraphy—the art of Xu Bing 徐冰 and his “Square Word Calligraphy”
Feb. 28/R  Shaping the characters: major principles of how to properly combine components of a Chinese character; reinforcing the strokes, form and correlation in standard script; experimenting contemporary calligraphy

Week 9
😊 Spring Break 😊

Week 10
Reading: Harrist, Robert, “The Two Perfections: Reading Poetry and Calligraphy” in The Embodied Image, ed. by Robert Harris and Fong Wen, p. 281-301
Qi Gong, “The Relationships between Poetry, Calligraphy, and Painting” in Words and Images: Chinese poetry, calligraphy, and painting, ed. by Alfreda Murck and Wen Fong, p. 11-20
Sullivan, M., The Three Perfections, p. 11-80

Mar. 12/T  Calligraphy and poetry: last day to turn in the term paper
Mar. 14/R  Refining the standard script with text from selected Tang poem
Week 11

Reading: Chiang, Yee, "Calligraphy and Painting" in Chinese Calligraphy, p. 206-13
Fu Shen, "Format and the Integration of Painting and Calligraphy" in Traces of the Brush, p. 179-201
Kwo, Da-wei, "Aesthetics of Brushwork" in Chinese Brushwork in Calligraphy and Painting: its history, aesthetics, and techniques, p. 53-111

Mar. 19/T Calligraphy and painting
Mar. 21/R Integrating calligraphic skill to create Chinese ink painting; reviewing for exam

Week 12

Mar. 26/T Exam
Mar. 28/R Refining the final piece; due on the presentation topic and group arrangement

Week 13

Reading: Yonemura, Ann, "Japanese Calligraphy" in From Concept to Context, Approaches to Asian and Islamic Calligraphy by Fu Shen and A. Yonemura, p. 62-100
Boudonnat, Louise and Harumi Kushizaki, Traces of the Brush: the art of Japanese calligraphy, p. 53-95

Apr. 2/T Historical development of Japanese calligraphy and its relationship with Chinese calligraphy
Apr. 4/R Refining the final piece

Week 14

Reading: Kwo, D. W., “The Role of the Seal” in Chinese Brushwork in Calligraphy and Painting, p. 179-83
Billeter, J. F. "Notes on Seal Engraving" in The Chinese Art of Writing, p. 286-89

Apr. 9/T Role of Seal (印, yin) in calligraphy and painting; learning the seal making
Apr. 11/R Creating seals and applying them on the completed final calligraphy piece; finishing up the final calligraphy piece

Week 15

Apr. 16/T Class presentation
Apr. 18/R Class presentation

Week 16

Apr. 23/T Class Exhibition

- Have a great summer -
Practicing calligraphy is good for your soul and body
Bibliography

USEFUL CALLIGRAPHY WEBSITES:

Art of Chinese Calligraphy
http://www.chinapage.com/callig1.html

Asian Art Appreciation (or Chinese Calligraphy)
http://www.asia-art.net/calligraphy.htm

Eastern Asian Calligraphy

Tools and learning Chinese Calligraphy
http://www.chinese-tools.com/learn/characters

Chinese characters, script, and writing

Chinese Calligraphy with basic knowledge and step by step instructions.
http://www.chinavoc.com/arts/

Learning basic strokes
http://www.macauweb.com/handwrite/learn.html

Chinese etymology
http://internationalscientific.org/

漢典 Chinese Dictionary for characters and various scripts
http://www.zdic.net/

說文解字—篆書字典 Dictionary for the seal script
http://www.shuowen.org/

WRITING TOOL SUPPLIERS:

Amazon
http://www.amazon.com/

Yasutomo
http://www.yasutomo.com/

Acorn Planet
http://www.acornplanet.com/