COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course describes and analyzes the sound system, word structure, sentence structure, and semantics of Arabic.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

By the end of this course, you will be expected to

- retain linguistic facts about the Arabic language;
- recognize and transcribe Arabic sounds broadly and fairly accurately using the International Phonetic Alphabet;
- observe data sets in order to
 - identify the necessary structural elements at the word and sentence levels,
 - arrive at linguistic generalizations, and
 - explain your answers by providing solid arguments.

Long-Term Objectives:

It is my hope that this course will help you

- appreciate language as a unique human system worth investigating;
- look at your own language as an outsider and appreciate it more.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Undergraduate Students

- 1) Exams – 40%
There will be two in-class exams. Each will be a two-day exam and is worth 200 points – 20%.
 - a. Exam 1: Wednesday & Friday, October 9 & 11
 - b. Exam 2: Monday & Wednesday, December 2 & 4
- 2) Textbook Reading Assignments – (5 assignments, 40 points each) – 20%
You are expected to read assigned textbook chapters and to answer questions that I post online a week in advance.
- 3) Additional Reading Assignments (6 assignments, 30-40 points each) – 20%
These will be distributed throughout the semester. Each assignment requires the reading of one article or book chapter (not to exceed 35 pages) in order to answer a set of online questions. The assignment and questions will be posted online a week before due date. Once a student starts the online process of answering the questions, s/he will have a limited time (e.g., 40 minutes) to complete it. Students are encouraged to discuss the reading together, but they are expected to answer the online questions alone.
- 4) Extended Abstract and Oral Presentation – 20%
Every student will be assigned to a group. The group will be assigned one of the readings in (3) above plus additional readings (articles, book chapters). Each member of the group will be expected to write a 2000-word essay that engages with a common theme in the assigned readings. The essay may take the form of an extended abstract. It is expected to do some or all of the following: (i) highlight a problem or a research question, (ii) provide data to illustrate the phenomenon under examination, (iii) discuss earlier work on the topic and explain why it is inadequate where possible, (iv) provide a solution to the problem. Students are encouraged to discuss the readings together, but each student does the write-up of the extended abstract alone. In addition, the group will be expected to work together to prepare an oral presentation of 30-50 minutes. Remember that the class will have read one of the assigned readings; the group's task is to engage the class with the topic beyond that reading. You may use any material you deem necessary to accomplish this task; e.g., powerpoint presentation, games, videos, etc.

Sample extended abstracts may be found at:

<https://journals.linguisticsociety.org/proceedings/index.php/ExtendedAbs>

Here is another link that provides tips on how to write an extended abstract:

<https://www.cs.indiana.edu/icfp96/advice.html>

Here are some guidelines on how to present a conference papers. Some of these tips may be useful as you prepare your oral presentation, keeping in mind that the tips focus on conference presentations, which normally take the form of a lecture and questions by audience follow.

All assignments must be typed. Additional specifications may accompany certain assignments.
