Course Description and Goals

When combined with its second-semester continuation, RUS 2220 offers an intensive and comprehensive continuation of Russian language study focusing on developing speaking, listening, reading and writing skills. If successfully completed, students will be able to communicate in a wide variety of everyday settings in Russian and speak in extended paragraphs about themselves and on a wide variety of topics.

Credit and Prerequisites.

This course carries four credits and counts as foundational work toward the UF Russian major and minor. Prerequisite: RUS 1131 or instructor's permission.

Course Requirements and Grading

You will be required to:

- Attend class meetings;
- Participate actively and intelligently in class exercises;
- Complete the assignments scheduled for each class meeting and be prepared to work with them in class;
- Complete periodic quizzes assuming a variety of formats;
- Take 4 unit tests;
- Take comprehensive final proficiency assessment.

Your course grade will be determined by the quality and consistence of your daily performance and periodic quizzes, tests and other assessment activities as follows:

- Attendance: 25%

- Participation: 15%
- Homework: 20%
- 10–12 Quizzes: 10%
- 4 Unit Tests: 20%
- Final Proficiency Assessment: 10%

Final grades

Final grades will be calculated according to the following scale:

A = 93 – 100%	C+ = 77 – 79%	D- = 60 – 62%
A- = 90 – 92%	C = 73-76%	E = less than 60%
B+ = 87 – 89%	C- = 70 – 72%
B = 83-86%	D+ = 67-69%
B- = 80-82%	D = 63 – 66%

Tests

Tests will consist of a combination of open-book written prompts, speaking, listening, and reading assignments, and periodic oral interviews—all designed to assess your mastery of chapter material. More specific test structure and content will be previewed during the classes leading up to a test.

Quizzes

Periodic quizzes will range from oral readings of textbook passages (to assess pronunciation, intonation, and fluidity), to grammar and vocabulary checks. They will be graded on a 10point scale and your lowest quiz score will be dropped before final grades are calculated.

Make-up policy:

Make-up graded work will be permitted only in the case of legitimate conflicts well-documented in advance.

Homework

- The weight of credit given to homework reflects the special nature of foreign language learning, which, like mastering a sport or musical instrument, depends first and foremost on consistency, persistence, and daily training.
- Homework assignments will be due nearly daily (per class meeting) and clearly outlined in Canvas.

- Answer keys to workbook assignments are made available for each assignment.

Here's how you use them:

- o Study the new vocabulary, structures, dialogues, grammar, etc. from the Textbook
- o Write the assigned SAM exercises with the TB pages available if necessary. Consult grammar explanations, conjugation patterns, declension tables, as needed. Actively consult the relevant TB pages as you make your way through a written assignment.
- o When you have completed an assignment—and only once you've completed the assignment—open up the answer key, check your work against it, try to understand your errors, and correct all your mistakes directly on the page, using a different colored pen. It is critical for me to see where you are having problems, so I can follow up as required with clarifications.
- Important: Using the answer keys too earlier in this process will delay, if not entirely prevent, your proper mastery of the material, and likely hurt you when it comes time for graded tests and quizzes.
- Unless otherwise stated, written homework should be hand-written, using cursive Cyrillic.
- Open-ended writing assignments should be submitted on lined paper, double spaced. Homework submitted 1 class period late will be eligible for ½-credit.

Attendance

Class meetings will be highly interactive and demand active and meaningful use of new language models; for this reason, unlike many other courses, missed contact hours will be difficult if not impossible to make up. Attendance will be graded on a straight percentage basis: attend 100% of the class (excepting excused absences), receive 100% credit for this component. Excused absences will be given in the case of legitimate conflicts well-documented in advance.

Class Participation

Your participation grade will be based on your level of engagement and focus in classroom activities in both large and small groups. Participate actively, stay on task, ask questions when you're unsure or confused, and you will do well. I will provide you with a status report on this component toward the middle of the semester.

Course Etiquette, Communication and Technology

- Class will begin and end promptly. Please be on time and refrain from gathering up materials until I indicate that class is over.
- Outside of class and office hours, feel free to reach me by email (galdok@ufl.edu) with inquiries or issues that are not clarified in class meetings, the course syllabus, the online "Weekly Assignments" page, or posted handouts. If you do send email, practice your informal,

Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the disability Resource Center. It is important for students to share their accommodation letter with their instructor and discuss their access needs, as early as possible in the semester.

Academic Honesty

All students must be familiar with and will be held accountable to the University's "Academic Honesty Guidelines." Please review these guidelines at:
