GER 2225

3 CREDIT HOURS

Fall 2019

Student-Instructor ZOOM Meeting Time: To be arranged.

INSTRUCTOR: Dr. Diane Richardson: 263c Dauer Hall <diane.richardson@ufl.edu>

OFFICE HOURS (REQUIRED): Students can message the instructor using the Canvas Inbox to schedule office hours. Please allow 24 hours for a response. Questions posted over the weekend will typically not receive a response until the beginning of the following week.

COURSE WEBSITE: <http://elearning.ufl.edu>, then navigate to GER2225

COURSE COMMUNICATIONS: For any course-related questions, students should check the "Start Here" section. If a student has problems with the technology tools used in the Canvas course, he or she should contact the UF Computing Help Desk in the HUB. Private questions should be sent to the instructor through the Canvas Inbox tool (this would include questions about grades, late work, etc.).

MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES (REQUIRED): You MUST have a headset with microphone and a web camera for this course. The cost for such a microphone ranges from $10.00 - 50.00, and the cost of a web camera is similar. These can be purchased at most electronics stores, online, or at the UF Bookstore.

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This is GER 2225: Online Intermediate German. Like the GER 1125-GER 1126 "Discover German" beginning sequence, this 3-credit intermediate course is web-based and offered on a distance-learning format. There are no classroom meetings. The course provides instructional and practice materials in various forms that allow students to learn on their own. Thanks to the collaborative tools in Canvas, students do a considerable part of their course work in groups to which they will be assigned. These groups have weekly assignments and meet biweekly with their instructor for short feedback sessions in Zoom at a time to be arranged.

GER 2225 is an online version of the classroom GER 2200 Intermediate German. However, whereas GER 2200 is designed as a continuation of the regular classroom-based GER 1130 and GER 1131, GER 2225 is designed as an online continuation of the online beginning German sequence GER 1125 and GER 1126 ("Discover German"). GER 2225 has the advantage of preparing students in an online working environment for the Online German Studies Minor: <https://sites.clas.ufl.edu/songs/the-online-german-minor/>. course-format of some upper-division level online German courses that are currently in development. Students need to know that either GER 2200 or GER 2225 will serve perfectly well to prepare students for all upper division German courses at UF, but if you enjoy and benefit from a more flexible online learning format, and have self-discipline in your study habits, you will find GER 2225 "Online Intermediate German" a good choice.

If you have taken any one-year-long beginning German sequence elsewhere (i.e. 10 total credit hours of beginning German), you may take GER 2225. However, you should be aware that GER 2225 is designed principally as a continuation of UF's Online "Discover German" Sequence. Students with some experience and familiarity with online language-culture instruction may find it easiest to adapt to the online format of GER 2225. However, some students may find the online format different and challenging if they are not used to self-directed language-culture study.

COURSE GOALS AND/OR OBJECTIVES (REQUIRED): In GER 2225 students will transition from the A2 towards the B1 proficiency level as defined in the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR). COURSE GOALS AND/OR OBJECTIVES (REQUIRED): In GER 2225 students will transition from the A2 towards the B1 proficiency level as defined in the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR). Corresponding to the B1 Proficiency levels as goals, which in some contexts are defined as "independent language user," we rely in this course on students taking the initiative in the language-culture learning process!

HOW THIS COURSE RELATES TO THE STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES IN THE GERMAN PROGRAM:

GER 2225 plays a transitional role in the German program, articulating between first year German and more advanced, upper-division courses in the German Studies, for which the Student Learning Objectives are:

1. Describe, explain and apply the knowledge of the cultures of German-speaking countries.
2. Explain and demonstrate proficiency in the German language as defined by criteria established by recognized European and German benchmarks appropriate to the chosen area of study within German studies.
3. Evaluate the significance of information gathered from authentic sources in German and German-related countries and apply it effectively.
4. Articulate clearly in speech and in writing using the German language.

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS: By using a variety of teaching and learning tools of the course management system, students will be provided with the necessary information and opportunities to practice their language skills within the performance and cultural contexts set forth in the modules. The materials and tools in each module help students to develop speaking, reading, listening comprehension and writing skills, in the first half of the course, and in the second part of the course become familiar with a number of cultural contexts and topics that are associated with some of the upper division courses in UF's German Studies curriculum (see below).

In GER 2225, cultural learning takes place through the use of authentic Web materials and formats, which students may later be using -- should they eventually decide to do so -- more intensively and in more focused ways in online German courses at the 3000- and 4000- level of the online German studies curriculum, such as "Advanced German Grammar," "Speaking and Listening Comprehension," "Reading German Texts," "Writing German Texts," "Business German," "German Cities as Cultural Centers," "Cultural Identity and Intercultural Competence," etc.

COURSE POLICIES:

ATTENDANCE POLICY FOR INSTRUCTOR MEETINGS IN ZOOM (to be arranged):

Your group will meet with your instructor once for ca. 20 minutes in Zoom during the second week of every Module following instructions you will be given. Students should be prepared for these scheduled meetings and use their webcams (because the visual cues that we see are sometimes as important as the words that we hear!). The regular biweekly meeting times will be arranged with students at the beginning of the course.

QUIZ/EXAM DATES/POLICIES (REQUIRED): Students will be informed about how to proceed in proctored exams using the HonorLock online proctoring system in Canvas.

LATE WORK: As a rule, unless a student has a medical excuse or a confirmed family emergency with documentation from the Dean of Students Office, late assessments, assignments, and exams will not be accepted. Any technical difficulties with assignments have a Help Desk ticket number if you plan to request an extension. The extension request MUST be submitted within 24 hours of the technical difficulty.

COURSE TECHNOLOGY: Access to and on-going use of a computer is required for all students. Competency in the basic use of a computer is required. Coursework will require use of a computer and a broadband connection to the Internet. For additional information on UF College of Liberal Arts and Sciences policy regarding computer requirements you can visit: <http://it.clas.ufl.edu/policies/student-computer-requirement/> For additional information on UF Online policy regarding computer requirements you can visit: <http://ufonline.ufl.edu/resources/computer-requirements/> Students are required to have speakers, a microphone, and a webcam to take the proctored exams and to participate in the group activities and instructor meetings.

ONLINE COURSE EVALUATION: Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing online evaluations at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>. Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semesters, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results>.

COURSE WORK:

Proceed through all the assigned pages, individual assessments and assignments, and the group assignments according to the schedule given in Canvas.

Expand your working vocabulary by learning the vocabulary list of each module actively and do all the relevant work on the grammar topics that are reviewed in each module (grammar review exercises and assessments will be taken from the Discover German sequence for this purpose).

Take the graded and proctored Midterm and Final Exams during the time indicated below. These exams are comprehensive and will cover all grammar, vocabulary, and topics covered in the first and second parts of the course respectively.

Prepare yourself for the weekly group activities, especially for the tasks assigned to you. Participate in all meetings with your group partners. It has been proven that the successful completion of this course depends to a very high degree on the collaboration of the groups. It is, therefore, very important that group members can rely on the constructive and timely cooperation of all others. Make sure that you are prepared for your group work so that it does not take an unnecessarily long time.

In each module, at indicated times, students in their groups will meet briefly for a required live conference with the course instructor to discuss the students' progress, practice areas that need additional attention, and prepare for coming assessments, assignments, and exams.
