Zoom online class requirements -

Do not share your Zoom classroom link or password with others. It is important to recognize that the online classroom is in fact a classroom, and certain behaviors are expected when you communicate with both your peers and your instructors. These guidelines for online behavior and interaction are known as netiquette. Refer to LLC Netiquette Guide to see the disciplines that you need to follow in our class.

When attending a Zoom class or meeting,

- Attendance will be taken at the start of each class session, and tardiness will be marked.
- Both audio presence and video presence are required.
- During class session, set yourself on mute unless you want to speak or you are called upon.
- If you want to speak, you can raise your hand (click the “raise hand” button at the center bottom of your screen) and wait to be called upon.
- You are encouraged to keep your webcam on throughout the class hour and to unmute yourself to participate in class discussion, ask questions, etc.
- Proctored tests administered by Honorlock and ProctorU require full audio and video presence.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

CHI1131 is the sequel to CHI1130 and is designed for students studying modern Chinese (Mandarin) as a second or “acquired” language. Students will build up their vocabulary and become familiar with basic sentence structures. In addition, students will develop their skills in listening, speaking, reading, and writing the language. Students are expected to carry out real life communication at an elementary level upon completion of this course. Culture embedded in the language will also be introduced. To be more specific, students will attain approximately the Novice-High level on the ACTFL/ETS proficiency scale after completing this course:

Listening: Able to understand short, learned utterances and some sentence-length utterances, particularly where context strongly supports understanding and speech is clearly audible. May require repetition, rephrasing and/or a slowed rate of speech for comprehension. Speaking: Able to satisfy partially the requirements of basic communicative exchanges by relying heavily on learned utterances but occasionally expanding these through simple recombination of their elements. Can ask questions or make statements involving learned material. Reading: Where vocabulary has been learned, can read for instructional and directional purposes standardized messages, phrases or expressions, such as some items on menu, schedules, timetables, maps, and signs. Writing: Able to write simple fixed expressions and limited memorized material and some recombination thereof. Can supply information on simple forms and documents.

Chinese placement test

If you have not taken Beginning Chinese at the University of Florida or the UF in Chengdu Study Abroad Programs you must consult your instructor and take the placement test. Beginning, Intermediate, and Advanced Chinese language courses require a placement test administered by the department of Languages, Literatures, and Cultures. For Placement test registration please go to dept website and fill out the online registration by Jan 12th, 2021. Spring 2021 placement test will be a virtual test via Canvas from Jan 6th to Jan 13th. Please contact Xu laoshi at hanxu@ufl.edu if you have any questions.

Attendance

Since this is an intensive course, attendance is essential part of the class. All students are expected to attend class every day. You are allowed to have four unexcused absences. Each additional unexcused absence after the 4th will result in 1 point deduction from the final scores. Medical related absences including disability related absences may not exceed 10 class times due to interfering with the essential course requirements. Each additional medical related absence after the 10th will result in 1point deduction from the final score. For an excused absence: You need to contact the office of the Dean of Students at dsocares@dso.ufl.edu by email or call 352-294-2273 to request assistance by phone. The office of the Dean of Students will alert your instructor and certify the related documentation.

Students who work with the Dean of Students Office or are registered with the Disability Resource Center are responsible for providing related documentation.

Please be punctual. If you are late to class, you will not be given extra time to complete exams and quizzes. If you are more than 5 minutes late three times without your instructor's consent, they will be counted as one absence. If you are more than 30 minutes late, it will be considered as one absence. If you leave 10 minutes prior to the end of class without your instructor's permission, it will be counted as one absence as well.

If you are late or miss class for any reason, it is your responsibility to contact your instructor or ask your classmates to find out what you have missed and what you need to do.

Religious holidays

Students shall be excused from class to observe a religious holy day of their faith upon prior notification to their instructors. Students shall be permitted to make up the material or activities covered in their absence and shall not be penalized. Please refer to attendance policies.

Participation

Students will be evaluated by their daily performance in class. Students are expected to preview lessons, and prepare for classroom activities. Since this is a five-credit course, students are expected to study for at least 2 hours every day outside of class. Sleeping, talking or doing homework during class is considered as disengaged from class activities. Any absence is considered as 'no participation' on the day of absence. The grading criteria for class participation will be on a 10 point scale:

10 = excellent performance (including excellent preparation of the Situational Responses); high level of fluency and accuracy;

8 = very good /strong performance (including very good preparation of the Situational Responses); with some minor weak areas; memorized most materials; no need to refer to textbook;

6 = good performance (including full preparation of the Situational Responses); with some weakness; memorized some materials; occasional need to refer to textbook

4 = fair performance (including partial preparation of the Situational Responses); weak in major area; memorized only limited materials; frequent need to refer to textbook

2 = poor performance (including very limited preparation of the Situational Responses); weak in most area, refer constantly to textbook

1 = completely unprepared or disengaged from class activities (no preparation of the Situational Responses).

0 = absent; or any interrupts to the lecture

Homework

All homework assignments are due in class on the due date. No homework will be accepted after the due date indicated on your assignment sheet, unless it is an excused absence. Any missing homework assignments will receive a 0. Any copied homework (see item 8 below) will also receive a 0. If you know that you will miss class on the day that an assignment is due and it is excused, turn it in ahead of time.

Vocabulary quizzes, mini orals, speaking test, final skit & chapter tests

There are two vocabulary quizzes for each lesson. Students will memorize the pinyin, Chinese character, English definition, and are able to type each new word from a keyboard.

A written chapter test is given every 1-2 lessons (L8 &9, L10, L11&12 and L13 &14). Students will be tested on listening, grammar, reading and writing for the written test. Proctored tests administered by Honorlock and ProctorU require full audio and video presence.

A Mini oral is an assignment to practice speaking. Instructions for mini orals will be given beforehand. Students sometimes need to work in pairs or groups.

A Speaking test is given half-way through the semester. Each student will sign up for a 5 minute interview with the course instructor. Most questions are given ahead of time so that students can prepare.

The end-of-semester final skit is the final speaking product of the semester. Students will work individually or in groups. Instructions will be given two weeks prior to the performance.

Canvas/E-Learning(elearning.ufl.edu) and OneNote

Students are required to check the Canvas/E-learning and OneNote for the daily course schedule, class and homework assignments, Grammar PowerPoint notes and other supplementary materials.

Makeup Policy: There will be no make-ups for any quiz, test, or oral presentation if any of the two requirements is not fulfilled.

A. Make-up tests, quizzes, homework, and oral presentations (individual and group) are given strictly to those with valid proof of illness, emergency and approved school activities. Official documentation must be provided for the exact date of absence. Pre-arranged make-ups are only for official activities, not for personal activities.

B. In addition to an official document, the instructor must be contacted by email before the class time and a make-up section must be scheduled within three class days after the student's return to class. It is important not to miss the group presentations as other members in the group can be affected. Also see Attendance.

Chinese Speaking Policy in Class

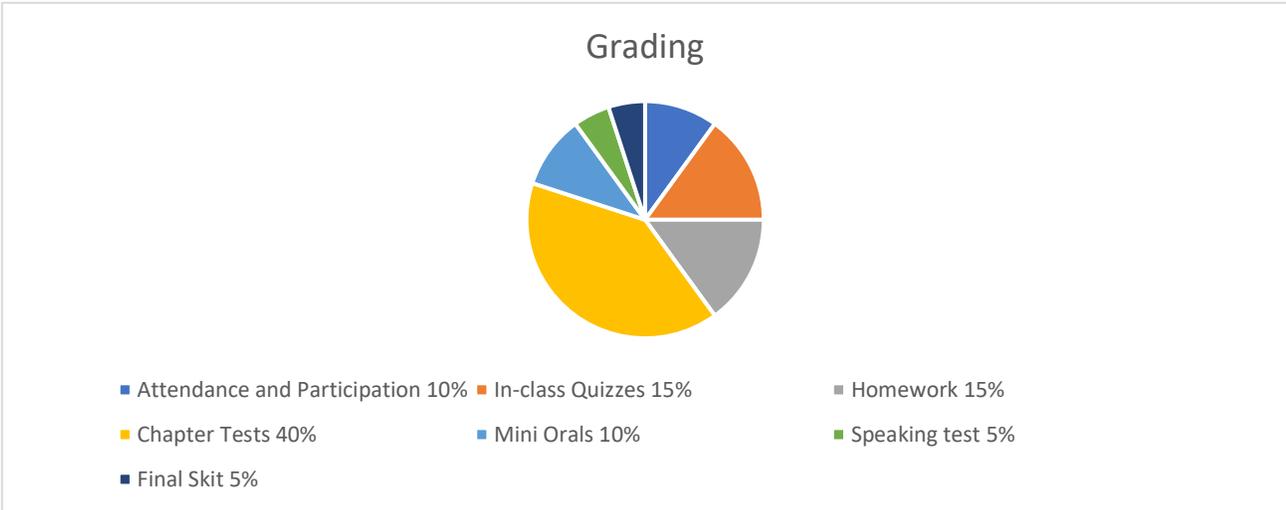

You are required to do your best practicing Chinese in class. You will be taught how to ask permission to speak English, if it becomes absolutely necessary.

Students Requiring Accommodations

Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the Disability Resource Center. It is important for students to share their accommodation letter with their instructor and discuss their access needs, as early as possible in the semester.

Course Evaluation

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing online evaluations. Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students on the Gator Evals page.

University Honesty Policy

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.” The Honor Code specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor in this class.

Software Use

All faculty, staff, and students of the University are required and expected to obey the laws and legal agreements governing software use. Failure to do so can lead to monetary damages and/or criminal penalties for the individual violator. Because such violations are also against University policies and rules, disciplinary action will be taken as appropriate. We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to uphold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity.

Student Privacy

There are federal laws protecting your privacy with regards to grades earned in courses and on individual assignments. For more information, please see the Notification to Students of FERPA Rights.
